Terrible! We must preserve wildlife and wildlife habitats, not destroy them!

Suckfest83 (2 months ago) Reply +3

That's a shame - I like gorillas. Ah well, if they do go extinct, I guess I can take comfort in the fact that we won't be too far behind them, especially if we keep up the way we've been going.

Safety Belt Education -- Buckle Up For Safety

36 ratings

From: adcouncil | August 06, 2007 | 32,316 views

The single most effective protection against death and serious injury in a car crash is the safety belt. Since Vince & Larry, the Crash Test Dummies, were introduced to the American public in 1985, safety belt usage has increased from 14% to 79%, saving an estimated 85,000 lives, and $3.2 billion in costs to society. The campaign tagline, "You Could Learn A Lot From a Dummy," as well as the crash test dummies themselves, was retired in 1999, when the U.S. Department of Tre... (more info)

Our employees put together this video to generate breast cancer awareness throughout our hospital system. We had a ton of fun putting this together and hope it inspires others to join in the cause
